More Information

BMH Volunteers are the youth voice at Boone Memorial Hospital. Known for their name, FOX, these teens are Focused on Xcellence.

Volunteers assist hospital departments with various projects such as greeting and interacting with patients and delivering magazines, blankets, drinks, etc. They may work the information booth, assist with mailings, hospital and community events and more.

Students gain hands-on work experience, further develop and strengthen leadership skills all while improving the quality of life of others.

Volunteers will be recognized each year at the annual hospital award's banquet. Special appreciation events will be held and students receive the hospital employee discount for meals.
